THE NORTHERN SCHOOL FOR CREATIVITY & ACTIVISM

“Art is travelling without travelling. Art is a language that does not need Western translation. Art is a mini-scale revolution.”
– The International Congress of Youth Voices

UNION 23

UNION delivers a series of coaching and training programmes for community artists and social activists in the North of England.

In 2023 we will be running a 12-month programme aimed at mid-career artists and activists from across the North.

UNION has previously focused on early-career professionals but we are aware of a demand from people working in the sector who feel they have established their professional practice but are considering … what next?

If that sounds familiar and you are:

- Committed to using creative approaches to achieve social change
- Looking for direction, opportunities and challenges
- Ready to be part of a group; to learn with and get support from

Then join the UNION 23 programme

For more details and information on how to apply go to unionarts.org.uk

Deadline for applications:
November 27th 2022
Course starts:
January 20th/22nd 2023

UNION 23 will include:

- Five intensive weekend workshops during the year; all in different locations with differing themes and objectives.
- You will co-create the programme, review your own achievements and consider the challenges and opportunities going forward.
- Individual one-to-one coaching sessions to help define future pathways and identify possible opportunities, mentors, etc
- The opportunity to learn from funded collaborations between participants

UNION is coordinated by Heads Together Productions and, with support from the Paul Hamlyn Foundation, we are able to offer this programme for free and provide additional support where needed eg travel and access costs.

"UNION has helped me to figure out who I am, where my work sits and, more importantly, that I am not alone on this journey. It's given me a clearer focus for my activism."
